

EXETER CITY COUNCIL

REVIEW OF POLLING DISTRICTS & POLLING PLACES/STATIONS 2024

Information Sheet

General Information

The last full statutory review of Parliamentary polling districts and places in Exeter, was undertaken in 2019. There has been a minor interim review completed in 2022. The Council is now required to carry out a further scheduled statutory review to be completed in 2024.

- The Parliamentary polling districts and places are replicated for local government elections.
- The Act requires each local authority to undertake a review every five years. The last statutory review was undertaken in 2019. An interim review was undertaken in 2022.
- The final decision on the situation of polling stations rests with the (Acting) Returning Officer.
- It should be noted that City Ward, County Division and Parliamentary Constituency boundaries cannot be changed under this process.
- A polling district is a geographical sub-division of an electoral area, i.e. a UK Parliamentary constituency, a ward or an electoral division.
- A polling place is a geographical area in which a polling station is located. In Exeter polling places are the same as the polling district to allow a greater degree of flexibility in deciding where a polling station should be.
- A polling station is the actual room or building where the process of voting takes place and must be located within the polling place designated for the particular polling district. The (Acting) Returning Officer for the particular election must provide a sufficient number of polling stations and allot the electors to those polling stations in such manner as he or she thinks the most convenient.

Current Arrangement of Polling Districts

Maps are available upon request.

What the Rules say*.

- (a) the authority must seek to ensure that all electors in a constituency in its area have such reasonable facilities for voting as are practicable in the circumstances;
- (b) the authority must seek to ensure that so far as is reasonable and practicable every polling place for which it is responsible is accessible to electors who are disabled;
- (c) the authority must have regard to the accessibility to disabled persons of potential polling stations in any place which it is considering designating as a polling place;
- (d) the polling place for a polling district must be an area in the district, unless special circumstances make it desirable to designate any area wholly or partly outside the district;
- (e) the polling place must be small enough to indicate to electors in different parts of the district how they will be able to reach the polling station.

*(Representation of the People Act 1983 s.18)

Please also note that the Council must publish any correspondence submitted in respect of this review.

Access

All polling stations should have access facilities for disabled electors. This includes wheelchair users. There are various building regulations which determine how adaptations can be made. It is not always possible for the owners of buildings to make permanent structural changes. Where permanent facilities are not possible, Electoral Services try to make temporary provision, usually by means of a portable ramp. However, it must be remembered that, on occasion these ramps can cause a hazard and thus it is not always a practical solution.

A polling station should be within reasonable walking distance for most electors.

Practical Considerations

Availability

There is no such thing as a purpose built polling station. We have to adapt and use the buildings which are available in the locality. Whilst regulations permit the Returning Officer to use schools, the owners of other buildings (Church halls, sports clubs etc.) have no such obligation.

Suitability

When selecting a polling station there are some basic criteria which need to be considered.

- Geographically central for the majority of the electorate.
- Appropriate for democratic use.
- Health and safety arrangements
- Enough useable space.
- Exclusive use.
- Access
- Welfare facilities for staff
- Cost

Topography

Considerations such as steep hills and other natural boundaries, railway lines, busy main roads etc. need to be taken into account.

Other Factors

Use of Schools

The current policy is that schools should not be used, where there is a reasonable and viable alternative. This is not always possible. Whilst regulations permit the Returning Officer to use schools as polling stations, every effort will be made to ensure that the school remains open on polling day, although ultimately this decision lies with the school itself. Any alternate suggestions for other suitable venues will be considered.

Overall Number of Polling Stations

There are no legislative limits on the number of polling stations an authority can provide. However, when considering numbers, there needs to be sufficient to run efficient and effective elections, which are as accessible and convenient to the electorate as possible and which follow the principles set out above.

Potential Issues and Considerations

Below is information relating to some known concerns relating to polling stations.

Pennsylvania Ward

The closure of the Sylvania Community Hall in Mincinglake Valley Park will mean that the polling district boundary will need to be amended to include Stoke Hill Junior School, which served as a replacement in the recent UK Parliamentary General Election.

Alternate suggestions for any other current polling station will be also be given consideration.
